INSPIRING CALL SEASON FROM EUROPEAN COMMISSION

As Europe continues to face increasingly complex and interconnected security challenges, the 2025 Horizon Europe Cluster 3 calls, come at a critical moment for shaping our collective resilience. Within our research and innovation programme, this year's priorities once more place a strong emphasis on the capability-driven approach - ensuring that research and innovation translate into tangible, operational tools for those working on the front lines of crisis prevention and response.

Applicants are encouraged to co-design solutions with practitioners, address real-world capability gaps, and contribute to strengthening Europe's preparedness and response capacity. Proposals should demonstrate clear pathways to uptake and impact, especially in complex and cross-sectoral contexts.

The National Contact Points (NCPs) are key enablers in this process, and I want to acknowledge the important role of the SEREN5 network in fostering strategic cooperation, knowledge exchange, and high-quality participation across Member States and Associated Countries.

I wish all applicants and NCPs a productive and inspiring call season. Through your work, we take meaningful steps toward a more secure, prepared, and resilient Europe.

Giannis SKIADARESIS,

Area Coordinator for Disaster Resilient Societies, DG HOME, European Commission

The event brought together key stakeholders, researchers, and innovators from across Europe to exchange ideas and build partnerships for upcoming funding calls. It was also a platform for engaging discussions, new partnerships, and fresh ideas for a safer Europe!

We are sending the best of luck to all applicants preparing their proposals for Horizon Europe funding.

SEREN5 NCPS CLUSTER 3 NETWORK

Last May 19th, the SEREN5 NCPs Cluster3 network hold an awareness-raising webinar designed to the attention of eligible entities having the intention to submit a project proposal or to be part of a consortium preparing one of them. Via hub.brussels, as a SeREN5 partner, I organized this webinar in close collaboration with the Enterprise Europe Network \(EEN\) and notably the EEN branch in charge of the Haute-de-France area.

Why did the 2 networks decide to offer such a webinar to the audience, knowing that the official Cluster3 info day was expected a few weeks later?

4 main reasons for that :

1. A FULL PACKAGE opportunity to potential participants: the webinar was the very first event on the agenda of the EEN Virtual B2B event on Cybersecurity. I believed this was a good way for participants to pave the way to the B2B meeting sessions following the webinar while bearing in mind the first quick insights on calls' topics
2. Ensure a synergic point of view / approach to the calls' topics against :
 - a. the information which the scientific officers from the EC (DG Home) will surely provide on the calls' content next June 11th 2025 at the occasion of Cluster3 HE Info Day.
 - b. the way of "reading" the topics and the expert and valuable support cluster 3 NCPs provide to potential applicants before and during the proposal's preparation and during the project life
3. Offer the perspective of an advisor supporting entrepreneurs (mainly SMEs), therefore with a more business-oriented view as I'm an EEN advisors. This meant referring to tools such as:
 - a. BMC (Business Model Canvas), PESTEL, Empathy card which can help the proposal's preparation especially against criteria such as impact and quality

- b. or reminding the need of synergic expertise (the so-called “vertical” consortium) especially from SMEs to run the activities and share the workload
 - c. Or suggesting to clearly stating the TRL (Technological Readiness Level) evolution at the project’s start and at its end so as to allow the results more easily entering the market as this can feed the IRL (Investment Readiness Level) when starting the discussions with investors or helping to position the result for PCP (Pre-Commercial Procurement)
 - d. Rely on the EEN network when licenses can be given on a result or part of it to identify the suitable partner ready to pay royalties
4. Show by evidence that synergies between 2 European networks are possible and are really hands-on for the benefit of end-users (SMEs, academia, companies and other eligible entities)

My next recommendation?

Do not miss 2 pivotal events on the calendar!

11-12 June 2025 both in Brussels & online: Info Day & Brokerage Event

24-24 June 2025 Warsaw: SeREN5 booth available @ SRE, coupled to a “small brokerage” & Pre-idea check service by NCP Cluster 3

My very personal point of view for the CS calls 2025?

Some factors influencing in a negative way the uptake of the EU-Funded security research outcomes are STILL there. Consortia alone – even though they must give evidence that they are aware of the difficulty and propose solutions to overcome them – cannot be left alone. Basis to set the solution and make the EU market competitive and as much independent as possible on say US solutions must be foreseen at upstream level, before the WP are designed.

SUCCESSFUL SMI2G 2025

SMI2G: Security Mission Information & Innovation Group (SMI2G) Brokerage Event 2025

On May 6 and 7 we had a successful SMI2G 2025 event in Paris, organized by the EARTO Working Group Security and Defence research, SEREN5 network, EOS, IMGS, ECSO, CMINE and Ministère de l'Enseignement Supérieur et de la Recherche.

After the welcome address by Cédric Guillon-Lavocat and an introduction by Thierry Hartmann, some 350 participants exchanged and discussed new ideas for proposals under the Horizon Europe (HEU) CL3 work programme Civil Security for Society, expanded their network and established new collaborations. In total around 100 pitch presentations were delivered covering all destinations of the work programme.

We had two highly relevant keynotes: Nicolas Bessot (DG HOME) highlighted the successes and results achieved under H2020 and Horizon Europe, and underlined the political, policy and security context ahead of the next EU Multiannual Financial Framework. Polyvios Hadjiyangou (ECCC) presented the role of the European Cybersecurity Competence Centre in Europe's cybersecurity technological advancement and capabilities development.

Two panel discussions provided more insight in (1) how the sustainability and growth of professional networks can be enhanced (chaired by Jon Hall), and (2) what is needed to implement a whole of society approach for a secure Europe (chaired by Marcel Van Berlo). Two mini-panel and Q&A sessions provided more understanding in (1) preparing and executing lump sum projects (Fanny Schultz, Marina Martinez-Garcia) and (2) preparing open topic proposals (Flavia La Colla). In addition, presentations were delivered by the projects TRANSCEND (Marc Steen) and DIREKTION (Bastien CAILLARD).

All pitches and presentations are available on our event webpage: <https://www.cmine.eu/events/165978>

Marcel van Berlo,

EU Manager Civil Security at TNO, Netherlands

It was a pleasure to deliver a keynote speech in SMI2G event today on the impact and future of Civil Security Research. I highlighted the successes and results achieved under H2020 and Horizon Europe, and underlined the political, policy and security context ahead of the next EU Multiannual Financial Framework. Thanks to the EU-Funded research and innovation projects, we are stronger together in addressing challenges related to security, borders and civil preparedness in the EU, while promoting a stronger EU civil security industry.

Programme: Horizon 2020

Project duration: 1 June 2018 - 31 May 2023

Budget: € 3 495 957,50

NO-FEAR in a nutshell:

The Network Of practitioners For Emergency medical systems and cRITICAL care (NO-FEAR) was a five-year project funded by the European Union's Horizon 2020 programme. Its primary aim was to establish a pan-European network of emergency medical care practitioners, suppliers, decision-makers, and policymakers to foster collaboration, knowledge exchange, and the sharing of best practices.

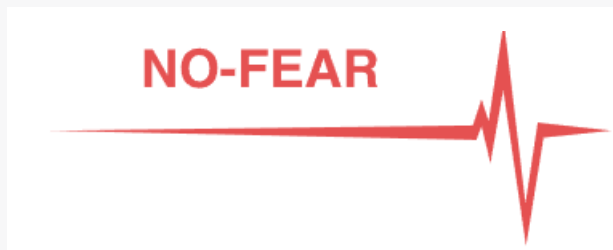

Key Objectives of NO-FEAR:

- Overcoming Fragmentation: Addressing the disjointed nature of the Emergency Medical System (EMS) by creating a cohesive network of stakeholders.
- Facilitating Cooperation: Encouraging collaboration among practitioners, academia, and industry to bridge gaps between different sectors involved in emergency medical care.
- Building a Common Vision: Developing a shared understanding of needs, gaps, and innovations by creating and operating a network of stakeholders involved in acute care in security-related incidents.
- Identifying Standardization Priorities: Pinpointing areas where standardization is needed to improve efficiency and effectiveness in emergency medical responses.
- Throughout its duration, NO-FEAR organized biannual events, including workshops, demonstrations, and exercises, to facilitate collaboration and knowledge exchange among its members. The project also produced various resources, such as public reports, better practice guides, and policy briefs, to disseminate findings and recommendations.
