Description of the (Research) Team

PI – Dr. Sharon Haleva-Amir. e-Politics scholar. Studying the interrelations between law-society-politics

2 Research students: Mrs. Sara Shaul Cohen and Mrs Liat Lechman-Goren: working on politics on social media issues (including electoral campaigns). Specializing in TikTok, Instagram and Political Text Messages

Expertise of the Team Leader

Hi, my name is Sharon Haleva-Amir, faculty member lecturer at BIU's School of Communication

Doctor of Philosophy from the Faculty of Law, at The Haifa University

Research fellow at Haifa center for Law and Technology (HCLT)

Visiting fellow at Tilburg Institute for Law, Technology and Society (TILT)

My research lies in the interdisciplinary field of e-Politics. As such it combines politics and technology and studies the novelties of personal political use of new technologies. To further elaborate, my studies deal with the interrelation between parliamentarians and constituents, during electoral and non-electoral periods, using web platforms.

My academic focus lies between new technologies and the public sphere in three different dimensions:

(1) the political - communicative dimension;

(2) the public democratic dimension and

(3) the legal dimension.

I have been studying Israeli e-politics for the last 15 years, specializing in cross platform analysis, multi layered analysis (PLC's – Parties, Leaders, Candidates), in tenure activities as well as electoral campaigns. I also study the political discourse between constituents and representatives
