Short introduction of key areas of institute's research:

User Experience laboratory with a Research Unit that analyzes the activity of real users, their needs to identify and create good routines and practices.

The User Experience (UX) Unit develops technological innovation starting from the study of implementation of ICT by real users. The objective of the UX Unit is to drive the design processes of new generation of ICT through the involvement of users in different phases of design, from observing their daily activities, to collaborative design sessions, to the evaluation of prototypes.

UX Unit offers services on:

- ✓ Users' activity analysis
- ✓ Modelling and representation of users and work processes
- ✓ involvement of users in the evaluation process of prototypes
- ✓ Participatory design
